All construction sites, other than those explicitly exempted, shall provide, at a minimum, six (6) foot chain link fencing with green nylon mesh or silk material running the full height and length of the fence, around the entire perimeter of the property prior to, and during all phases of, the construction. A building permit for the perimeter fencing is required, and the temporary perimeter fence must be installed, inspected, and permit finalized by the building department prior to initiating all other construction. Such fencing, as described in this section, shall not be required at those portions of the property where a permanent perimeter fence was issued a building permit, was installed, and received final inspection and or where other fencing currently exists which controls for access to the site.
